DAMROSCH COMING.

Members of the Rock Island Musical club are much gratified over their success in securing Walter Damrosch for an engagement in Rock Island on Jan. 18 at the Illinois theatre. Mr. Damrosch is touring next season with the New York Symphony orchestra, and its appearance with him in recital makes the engagement one of greatest interest to music lovers of the tri-cities.

ENJOY MORNING HIKE.

A party of six young ladies yesterday morning enjoyed a long hike over the twin-cities and the country about Davenport. The company ate a bountiful basket dinner at 12 o'clock, stopping about seven miles out of Davenport. The party started home at 3 o'clock and spent the evening with Miss Suzanne Weyerhaeuser, who served a dainty luncheon at 7 o'clock. Those in the company were the Misses Martha Schubert, Norma Ennis, Alma Frank, Ida Smith, Susanne Weyerhaeuser and Ruth Glesker. Miss Glesker is the guest of Miss Weyerhaeuser and returns to her home in Lewiston, Idaho, next week.

STEALS STEP-SON FROM HOME HERE

Marion Arnold, Five Years Old, Disappears From Bethany Institution on Sunday.

POLICE WORK ON CASE

W. M. Johnson, Foster-parent, Later Returns With the Lad and the Suspense is Thus Ended.

Marion Arnold, a five-year-old boy, disappeared from Bethany home yesterday afternoon. His stepfather William Johnson, 2519 Fifth avenue stole the lad, according to information authorities at the home have.

The boy was returned to the place this morning safe and sound. He appeared glad to get back.

Marion was taken to the home by his mother four days ago. His mother and stepfather separated at that time and she placed the little fellow there for safe keeping and proper bringing up, as she had other duties to perform since here separation that hinder her giving the child its proper care.

Taken While at Play.

The Egan went to Bethany home yesterday afternoon. The children were playing in the yard and Marion was amongst them. When his stepfather called to him he went over to his foster-parent, and went away with him.

The police were notified of the incident but when they called at the Johnston home the lad and his father were absent.

This morning the parent returned him to the home. He accompanied the little fellow to a point near the institution and then waited until he saw the lad safely in the yard of the place. Then the stepfather went away.

Authorities at the home will not prosecute, unless a repetition of the event occurs.

Mrs. Naomi Littig, matron of the home, stated today that she still has no word of Mrs. Elmhurst Scholard, the laundress who mysteriously disappeared from the place several weeks ago.

NAB WAITER FOR ASSAULTING MAN

Billy Camp Arrested by Officer Kell on Charges Preferred by F. J. Kottmann.

Billy Camp, night waiter at Jones' restaurant on Second avenue, a resident of Twenty-fourth street, was this morning arrested by Officer Dick Kell on complaint of F. J. Kottmann, 643 Seventeenth street, who said that Camp chased him about the business section of the city, in the vicinity of Eighteenth street and Second avenue, and assaulted him several times.

According to Kottmann's story of affairs, Camp called him out of a barber shop and struck him and assaulted him several times afterwards.

Officer Kell arrived on the scene. Camp had made a getaway, but later was arrested by the officer. The two appeared in police court later this morning and hearing of the case was set by Magistrate C. J. Smith at 9 o'clock Wednesday morning. Camp is out on his own recognizance.

SALOONS CLOSED TIGHT ON SUNDAY

Bars Held to the Letter of the Law by Police and Not a Wagon Call Was Made.

"Rock Island was sobriety itself Sunday," said Chief of Police James Brinn this morning. "Not a wagon call was made during the day and not a drunk was picked up because there was none in evidence."

The campaign the police started, at instigation of the mayor and commissioners, to hold the saloon keepers, who were breaking away from the Sunday closing law, more closely to the letter of the ordinance, was very effective yesterday.

The effect of the suspension of the license to the Turner hall also was in evidence and the saloon keepers realized that the commissioners meant business.

The result was that friends asked friends with a wink if they knew "how to get it" or "where to get it," but a shake of the head and a morose expression was the usual answer.

The police had strict orders Saturday night and Sunday to watch the bars.

MAN SAID HE HIT BOY FOR THREATS

Frank Anderson Claims Youth Said He Would Cut Head Open With Hatchet.

Frank Anderson, 318 Twenty-third street, stated to Magistrate C. J. Smith today in police court that the reason that he slapped Charles Egan, aged 14 years, member of a family who resides next door to Egan, Saturday night, was that the little fellow had threatened to cut his head open with a hatchet.

The Egan boy swore out a complaint against Anderson, charging him with assault and battery. Anderson was asked by Magistrate Smith what he had to say in his own behalf, and he then related that the boy had threatened his life, and to quiet the lad he slapped him in the face.

Asked what preceded the threat, Anderson stated that the boy had conducted himself indecently before members of the Anderson family. The defendant alleged that the matter was such that an investigation by a health officer would reveal the true cause of the trouble, and pending the examination further into the matter by health authorities, the case was continued until tomorrow. The boy denied the charge of indecent exposure.

Hundreds of Women.

nowadays are entering the professions or business world and go to work day after day in bad health, afflicted with some female ailment, dragging one foot wearily after the other, working with an eye on the clock, and wishing for closing time to come.

Women in this condition should take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs. It has brought health and happiness to more women in America than any other remedy. Give it a trial.—(Adv.)

Experiments are being made in France with the ultra-violet rays for aging wines.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

THINGS WORTH KNOWING.

In dusting, wipe the dust off; do not flick it.

Linen is a fabric which can be easily dyed at home.

Try thickening the custard for lemon pies with grated potato instead of cornstarch.

Fasten a rubber tube a yard long to your bathroom faucet if you would have a noiseless bath.

THE TABLE.

Vinegar Pie—One egg, one heaping tablespoonful of flour, one teaspoonful of sugar, one cupful of cold water, one tablespoonful of vinegar, nutmeg to taste. Beat the egg, add the sugar and the flour, beating hard; then add the other ingredients and bake in an open crust.

Peanut Brittle—Boil together a cupful each of molasses and brown sugar, a tablespoonful of vinegar and two tablespoonfuls of butter. When a little dropped into cold water is brittle, add a cupful of blanched peanuts; remove at once from the fire, add a teaspoonful of baking soda, beat hard and pour into buttered pans.

Arrowroot Blanc Mange—Put half a pint of milk into a double boiler, and when it reaches the scalding point stir into it three heaping teaspoonfuls of arrowroot which have been dissolved in a gill of cold water. Stir until thick and smooth; remove from the fire, flavor with a half teaspoonful of vanilla and pour into a bowl to cool. Set in the ice box until needed. Serve with powdered sugar and cream.

Peach Sponge—Soak a half box of gelatine for two hours. Peel and slice a dozen peaches, add to them a cupful and a half of sugar and a half cupful of water, and stew until the fruit is broken to pieces. Now stir in the soaked gelatine. When this is dissolved rub all through a coarse sieve, add a tablespoonful of lemon juice, and when the mixture is cool and beginning to thicken whip in the steadily whites of four eggs. Beat steadily for 15 minutes and turn into a mold to form. Serve very cold with whipped cream.

YOUTH TRIED ON TWO COMPLAINTS

Julius Thomas Released for Speeding Is Fined for Another Violation of Law.

Julius Thomas, 213 Eleventh street, a 16-year-old boy, was tried on two charges this morning for violating the traffic regulations of the city.

He was released on the first charge, that of speeding on Fourteenth street, Saturday afternoon, but was fined $5 and costs for not stopping when a street car was loading and unloading passengers at the corner of Sixteenth street and Second avenue yesterday afternoon.

Chief Brinn saw him at the time and ordered him to appear at the station this morning for trial. He was fined on the chief's testimony although his mother made a strong fight for his release.

In the first charge, that of speeding, Officer Carey testified that Thomas and Charles Paul, also arrested, were racing on the street. A third motorcyclist whose machine was equipped with a speedometer, testified that they were not traveling over 11 miles an hour and they were released.

Dr. A. P. Donohue, Davenport was fined $10 and costs this morning on a charge of speeding on Fourteenth street a week ago.

Henry Austin was assessed a similar fine for exceeding the speed limit on the same street Saturday afternoon. All were nabbed by Officer Carey.

FATHER AND SON ARE EACH FINED

Magistrate Asks Pair if They Thought They Had to Kill in Order to Be Guilty.

"What do you call disorderly conduct? Do you think that you have to kill a man before you can be arrested on that charge?" queried Magistrate C. J. Smith this morning of J. Britton, who with his son, F. E. Britton, were arrested by Officer Dick Kell Saturday evening near Market square.

The elder Britton had just stated to the court that he was innocent of any wrongdoing, and the questions by the court followed the testimony of Officer Kell.

Kell stated that after the two had threatened some one in a saloon nearby that he had attempted to quiet them. He said that when he did so, they asked what authority he had, and that the elder man grabbed him by one arm, while the son attempted to strike him. The officer further stated that when he drew out his stick that they both ran. He later took them into custody. Each paid fines of $5 and costs.

Want Matches at 36 Holes.

Foreign golf authorities have started an agitation to have all the matches in the championship match play at 36 holes instead of 18, the latter distance being considered too short for championship contests.

HEART and HOME PROBLEMS

MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I am a young man 24 years old, am tall and erect and have dark hair and blue eyes. I would like very much to keep company with some young lady. I am very bashful. What should a young man do to win a girl's favor? She must be a very nice girl, good looking, and she must stand well in society. She must also be able to play and sing, and, above all, be a good housekeeper. Do you think I am too particular? (2) Do you think a young man of my age ought to get married?

RANDOLPH.

(1) I think, young man, that you haven't fallen in love with any girl yet. If you had, you wouldn't care whether she could play and sing or not and you would be willing to trust to luck concerning her housekeeping. To win a girl's favor you have got to be mighty nice to her. Be courteous, considerate of her feelings and her strength. Show that you are strong, kind-hearted and willing to take responsibility. If you know in your heart that you are worthy of a good wife, you will not be bashful in the company of nice girls.

(2) You are old enough to marry.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) We are sisters, 18 and 29. Is Marie (the younger) old enough to get married if the right fellow asks her? She is pretty and popular, but has never had a proposal. How shall she go about it to get one?

(2) Lucy had a lover at one time, but they quarreled and each married someone else. Both of their companions have been dead the last three or four years. Would it be right for her to smile upon him, as he has been attending the same social gatherings as she the last few months?

(3) He has two small children. Do you think any woman can be a good step-mother if she tries?

MARIE AND LUCY.

(1) She is old enough to marry. She should be pleasant and good company, and not allow the boys to be too free with her, as boys seldom want to marry a girl who permits personal liberties before they are engaged to be married.

(2) I see no reason why she should not be pleasant to her old lover, nor why they should not marry each other if the old love has returned.

(3) A woman may be a good stepmother if the father of the children will stand by her. She can't do it all alone. She should love the children because they are her husband's, and try to win both their love and respect for herself.

TRAVELER.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Will you tell me what would be an appropriate outfit of clothing to take on a four weeks' pleasure trip to California?

GENERAL UTILITY SUIT.

A general utility suit is the first thing to think of. Have it of a material and style that will do for rough wear and still look well if it must be worn in the afternoon. A couple of linen skirts and half a dozen pretty blouses will be serviceable. At least two rather "dressy" dresses for afternoon affairs, will be needed—I would suggest one-piece gowns of soft silk or material that can be quickly smoothed of wrinkles caused by packing.

If you expect to attend evening dances, etc., you will need at least two dancing frocks and one dinner dress. These may be as elaborate as you wish.

California nights are cold. Have a warm evening wrap.

In hats, have an outing hat for hard wear, a dress hat for afternoon and something simple for wear with the tailored suit. A lace hood would do nicely for evening dress-up. Also, it might be a good idea to take an auto hood and a large chiffon veil to wrap about the head.

A long coat, preferably water-proofed, is practically a necessity. Also have a long sweater.

Among your shoes, be sure to have a pair of heavy, broad-soled, low-heeled shoes for tramping, and a pair of soft slippers which can be slipped on in the train as well as in one's bedroom. There should be a pair of dress shoes and slippers or whatever you prefer, to match the evening dress.

You can't hold down these suggestions to suit your comfort. When I travel I take as few clothes as possible with me.

Bed Time Tales

By Clara Ingram Judson.

Three Baby Robins

"THREE baby robins" thought they heard a "mew," one started to investigate and then there were two.

After their brothers left home, the three remaining little robins lived happily and comfortably for several days.

Of course the mother bird missed her departed babies, but the three who were left didn't mind a bit—there's no use pretending—they just simply didn't care! Worse still, they were glad their brothers were gone!

For now, you see, there was plenty of room for growing—three in a nest is not nearly as crowded as five. And all the nice, fat, dainty worms could be divided into three parts instead of five tiny pieces as before.

Then, too, Mother Robin had more time to talk to her babies and to tell them of all the wonderful things in the world outside the nest. She gave them lots of good advice, too—much of which, alas! they didn't even listen to!

"Now children," she said impressively, "you must remember that any cat is your enemy! Don't go near them—don't even look at them—fly away if you even hear a 'mew.'"

"All right, mother," they told us that before," said one baby robin, "but I could remember better if you would please get us some luncheon!"

"Yes, yes," exclaimed the mother, "you shall have some right away," and off she flew in search of food.

Left alone the three babies talked softly for a little while, then one said, "What was that noise?"

"Where? I don't hear anything!" whispered another.

"Listen!" commanded the first.

Sure enough! Right under the nest was a soft "Mew, mew-mew."

"It's a cat!" exclaimed one robin. "Hush! Listen!" said another.

Again they heard it—"Mew-mew-mew—come here! There's some robins up there and their mother is away—mew-mew!"

"It's the cat mother told us about!" exclaimed the excited robins.
